Short Description
The course explores the universe of conscious entrepreneurship, covering the implementation of a higher purpose and taking a holistic approach to stakeholder engagement in venture business-modeling.

The course combines deep analysis of case studies, covering impact and conscious organizations, examining their long-term performance in comparison to Fortune 500 firms, demonstrating the extraordinary results of such enterprises across time.

The course also covers business modeling, where stakeholders and purpose convert into revenue engines, by providing case studies of Israeli and foreign companies.

The course provides the means and techniques for identifying large-scale problems, crafting purpose and strategy statements into business planning and understanding theoretical approaches to the challenges humanity will be facing in the upcoming decade.
