

INTERNATIONAL
M.A.

ONE-YEAR INTENSIVE INTERDISCIPLINARY MASTER'S PROGRAM
TAUGHT IN ENGLISH, AT THE PORTER SCHOOL OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

ACADEMIC FOCUS

- Broad foundation of core and elective courses in environmental ethics, energy policy, ecology, climate change in the Mediterranean Basin, water resources in the Middle East, environmental law, environmental policy, and sustainability
- Emphasis is placed on water studies, exploring scientific, legal, and policy aspects of one of the region's most critical environmental resources
- Optional thesis track for outstanding students

CAREER PROSPECTS

The M.A. in Environmental Studies prepares graduates for careers in a wide variety of environmental sectors, including environmental policy consulting, national and international non-governmental organizations, civil service, environmental specialists in industry, and more.

ADMISSIONS NOW OPEN
INTERNATIONAL.TAU.AC.IL

PROGRAM FEATURES

- Field excursions bring students' learning outdoors, challenging them to learn hands-on about Israel's national environmental issues
- Internship program offering placements at Israel's leading environmental organizations and government agencies
- Optional "Business and the Environment" program in collaboration with TAU's Sofaer International MBA program gives students insight and experience in the area of business management

PROGRAM LENGTH

3 semesters (10 months)

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- Bachelor's degree in any field with a GPA of at least 3.0 on a 4.0 scale, or 80 on the Israeli grading scale, or its equivalent

TUITION

Tuition: $17,500 (USD)

The Porter School of Environmental Studies

Head of School: Prof. Dan Rabinowitz

Head of Program: Prof. Hudi Benayahu

Professional Director: Arch. Dr. Arie Neshet

CONTACT

environment@tau.ac.il

LEARN MORE

environment.tau.ac.il/international

APPLY NOW

international.tau.ac.il

